

Evason Phuket & Six Senses Spa Eco Story

Eco Trail education for school children

Evason Phuket, September 2007: 140 school children from Kajonkietsuksa School visited Evason Phuket & Six Senses Spa. Over a series of visits between July-September 2007, all school children from the age of 6-16 did the Evason Phuket Eco Trail to learn about environmental practices.

The school children and the teachers were shown the Herb and Vegetable Garden, waste water treatment plant, water reservoir, Recycling Corner, chipping machine, composting facility and nursery. The children were amazed by all the waste and how it could be separated for recycling. Particularly the smell from separated kitchen waste made many frown. It also made them realize that with good handling and composting it can be turned from waste to rich nutritious soil.

Evason Phuket & Six Senses Spa hopes the children can take the knowledge with them and adopt it both at their school and at home.
