

Evason Phuket & Six Senses Spa Eco Story

Mushroom Hut at Evason Phuket

Evason Phuket, July 2007: The Mushroom Hut is the new addition to the Herbal and Vegetable Garden. It supplies the kitchen with freshly grown mushrooms.

The resort took advantage of an existing structure and converted it into a Mushroom Hut. Bamboo walls with mosquito netting, leaf roof and sand floor was added in addition to wooden racks for the mushrooms to grow in.

Initially Abalone mushrooms were grown but later Black Oyster, White Oyster and Jew's Ear mushrooms were added. The mushroom spores are placed in bags, which are left standing for a couple of months. The bags are laid down vertically when the spores change colour from brown to white. The cap is then opened for the mushrooms to grow.
