Dr. Parry Treats Children at Vachira Hospital

Evason Phuket, 4-5 June 2007: Following the success of last year, Evason Phuket & Six Senses Spa invited Dr. Philip Parry to return to Vachira Hospital and treat children with various disabilities, including autism, Down syndrome, cerebral hypoxia, epilepsy and mental handicaps.

90 children were treated with neurologically based chiropractic treatment. The treatment does not cure the disabilities but it does relieve discomforts. The type of changes that are commonly seen in some of this group post-treatment are improvements in coordination, gross motor and fine motor control, behavioural patterns and a reduction in the overall amount of seizures and/or intensity of the seizure.

Dr. Parry is on a daily basis working on a project with The Director of Rajanagarindra Institute of Child Development in Chiang Mai, Department of Mental Health, focusing on single-blinded longitudinal studies measuring the behavioural changes in autistic patients with chiropractic intervention.

By correcting bone structures and relieving pressure on nerve systems he manages to change the children's behaviour.

Evason Phuket & Six Senses Spa would like to thank Dr. Parry for his work and Vachira Hospital for their support.
