World Environment Day 5 June 2007: Melting Ice - A Hot Topic?

Evason Phuket, 5 June 2007: Evason Phuket & Six Senses Spa would like to celebrate the World Environment Day 2007. This year's topic is Melting Ice - A Hot Topic? The topic raises the question of how to tackle one of the world's biggest challenges Global Warming. Evason Phuket & Six Senses Spa has over last years put in many energy saving measures to reduce our contribution of green house gasses, in particular carbon dioxide ( $CO_2$ ), which is the main cause of Global Warming.

A small software 'LocalCooling' can be download at www.localcooling.com

To further reduce energy consumption, attention to computers has been given. The monitoring software, LocalCooling provided by Uniblue Research Labs, which optimizes the computer settings to energy saving mode, was installed. The software can be downloaded on www.localcooling.com.

According to Uniblue Research Labs, there are more than 660 million computers around the world, which are wasting more than 30 billion kWh per year. If all set their computers on energy saving mode we could save 30 million ton  $CO_2$ . And  $CO_2$  emissions from just 15 computers are equivalent in energy terms to the gas consumption used by one car.

Thus, switching to energy saving mode will both save electricity bill and reduce  $CO_2$ -emissions. For this reason, the LocalCooling software was installed to optimize the energy consumption from the computers and monitor how much  $CO_2$ -emissions has been reduced.

All computer users are encouraged to change their computer settings to energy saving to help reduce  $CO_2$ -emissions to fight Global Warming.
