

Evason Phuket & Six Senses Spa Eco Story

Earth Hour 28 March 2009

Evason Phuket & Six Senses Spa celebrated Earth Hour 28 March 2009 by turning of lights for one hour. In just one hour hosts and guests improved their carbon footprint by 52.4 kg carbon emissions.

The feedback was extremely positive as guests enjoyed innovative Earth Hour experiences created especially for Earth Hour. These included candlelit dinners and yoga sessions celebrated under candle light.

More important than the 52.4 kg improved carbon footprint was helping to raise awareness. The resort is situated in the Andaman, which is an area likely to experience severe consequences of climate change.
